Quality - Our LEAN and ISO9001:2015 facilities manufacture fluidic systems for long-lasting performance and serviceability. We bring every project through a comprehensive process to ensure the final product meets your most demanding specifications through DFMEA, APQP process, first articles, and full production.

use fluidic products Include pulsating showerheads, lawn sprinklers, and oral irrigators. For military use, fluidics has been successfully applied to a fluidic generator to convert pneumatic energy into electrical energy, a fluidic stability augmentation system for helicopters, and a pressure-regulating system for aircraft.
